I lost track of time, remind me how it started
A motorcade of kids all headed to a party
I still had a best friend, didn't have ambitions
Real talk, when did it become a competition?
I would value anything if it would value me
Now he's got a car, someone to go to bed with
I wanted to learn but lessons were expensive
Instead I'm riding shotgun, wondering how it feels
Now his car's got two third wheels
I would value anything if it would value me
I remember the last time that we spoke and you said to
me
I'm going back to the place I love (twenty nothing!)
I'm going back to the things I know (twenty nothing!)
There's a part of me you should never see
Maybe I'll always be (twenty nothing!)
Girl I know we're stuck but let's move at our own pace
Heard he was your rock, does that make me your hard place?
Maybe I'm dull, too old to meet your parents
Four or five years, oh what's the fucking difference?
I would value anything if it would value me
me
I'm going back to the place I love (twenty nothing!)
I'm going back to the things I know (twenty nothing!)
There's a part of me you should never see
Maybe I'll always be (twenty nothing!)
I'm going back to the place I love (twenty nothing!)
I'm going back to the things I know (twenty nothing!)
There's a part of me you should never see
Maybe I'll always be (twenty nothing!)
One, you started coming over
Two, you started sleeping over
Three, you started taking over
Four, you told me it was over
(One!) You started coming over
(Two!) You started sleeping over
(Three!) You started taking over
(Four!) You told me it was over
I'm going back to the place I love (twenty nothing!)
I'm going back to the things I know (twenty nothing!)

There's a part of me you should never see
Maybe I'll always be (twenty nothing!)
One, you started coming over (back to the place I love)
Two, you started sleeping over (back to the place I love)
Three, you started taking over (back to the place I love)
Four, you told me it was over (back to the place I love)
One, you started coming over (back to the place I love)
Two, you started sleeping over (back to the place I
love)
Three you started taking over (back to the place I love)
Four, you told me it was over (back to the place I love)
I'm going back to the place I love!
