Burning in my frame images that I created from all these madness I had made too much shade inside my head too much love it causes hate I gave everything to you...

but who's to blame, who's to blame you simply put out the fire and lead me in to the night but all the things you've said and done left a hole inside my brain I dont mean much in your life like a flower to your grave forgive me I cant hide
