St Etienne
"How We Used To Live"

A rose scented June
A rose he pulled in June
They're full upon the lawn
The doctor came at dawn

An old daily care
And Suzie Banana Stand
Through frosted windowpane
Your father's middle name

From a train
And everywhere the snow falls
Sail away, sail away, sail away, sail away

A veil of faded blue
A Ruben's old curfew
One windy winter's day
A Windsor market day

People say
Everywhere the snow falls
Sail away, sail away, sail away, sail away
Sail away, sail away, sail away, sail away

She's moving down the seaside
'Cause that's where he comes from
He gave away all of her records
Is that where she belongs?

Better think it through
Remember who
Is there something new?
Or is it you again?

Sail away, sail away, sail away
Sail away, sail away, sail away
Sail away, sail away, sail away
Sail away, sail away, sail away

So take your red gown
And go down to the dam
To do as you please

On the streets of your town

The whistling kind
Shake it out of your mind
It could be the day
When you finally say

Sail away, sail away
Sail away, sail away, sail away
Sail away, on and on, on and on
On and on, on and on, on and on, on and on

Up the riverbank and under the viaduct
Causeway full of nice cars
The sand a distant dream

[Incomprehensible]
[Incomprehensible]
Across the riverbank
Cross the riverbank, don't look back

(To sail away and on and on)
(To sail away and on and on)
(To sail away and leave and go)
(To sail away)
I sail, you sail
(And on and on)
(To sail away)
I sail, you sail
(And on and on)
(To sail away)

Do you remember how?
(And on and on)
(To sail away)
Do you remember how?
(And on and on)
((To sail away)
Do you remember how?
(And on and on)
(To sail away and on and on)

Do you remember how we used to live?
Do you remember how we used to live?
Do you remember how we used to live?
