There you are. so far away. smiling at me. in my heart. iâ€™ve never called you. by your precious name. or told you. how beautiful you are. and all i have are my.
tender thoughts of you. and of your golden hair. shining in the light. just a glimpse of your sweet. and innocent face. keeps me hanging on. but brings tears to my eyes. you girl. you are burning in my eyes. your fire oh girl is my sunrise. and up in the sky. all the stars look just like you. dancing and twirling in your favorite dress. and maybe one day. iâ€™ll make a promise to you. when youâ€™re dressed in white. and drenched in happiness. oh girl. i donâ€™t think you know. you light up the sky. baby you glow. but you are just a dream. that makes me cry. â€˜cause iâ€™ll never be good enough. for you i realize. but i donâ€™t need. your mortal love. there is so much greater treasure. in the heavens above. when i reached out for you. you withdrew your hand. but i have found another. who loves me as i am. darling you can shine but not forever. one day your orange light will go out. and i need more than your flickering candle so iâ€™ll ride towards the sun that never goes down. keep me warm. lord jesus. come and end this dark night. with your splendor and light. be my. sunrise. if you donâ€™t save me. i wonâ€™t survive
