Come and follow me open your eyes. i will not tell you lies. let's go find your lover in the dark. you know the one who stole your heart. go deep in the garden. into the center of eden. your lover is hanging from a tree. he's that black figure moving can't you see. he came to you when you felt all alone. on your knees and crying so far from home. he promised he could take your pain away. and there would only be a small price to pay. so you asked him what you had to give. tell me my new friend how i should live. then he gave you a satisfied grin. he leaned close and whispered to you child you must sin. he coiled. all around you and here in the dark. who would save you. there was poison on his lips. as his tongue flickered and hissed. and death pierced your skin. when his fangs sunk right in. he took no time to strike you hard. leaving a shameful scar. and this cleaving wound. won't heal anytime soon. the poison still runs through in your blood. no time will ever quite be enough. you see the snake he came and went. and with him all your hope was spent. but don't you cry tonight. everything will be alright. 'cause if you take my hand. i will lead you to the promised land. the beauty i once saw. in your eyes. was snatched away by all his lies. but the beauty i will restore. to your eyes. will never fade away. it will shine. leave. fear. far. behind you. and believe only. in me. i demand all of 'cause all of you is mine. don't let him tell you anymore. that you are rotten to the core. it's true that you fell. but i forgive you so all is well. so take your heel and crush his head. and then he'll soon be dead. he knows he can never win for when i return. his time will end. ancient. enmity. burns. so deep. inside of you. and me

I can't escape the fact that i chose this and i'm a servant. of the evil one. i'm marchin' in the enemy's army. i can't escape the fact that i chose the losing side. and i've learned his ways. so now i pass them along. there's comprehension in my mind. but i still forsake you. i've be-. come an adder woe to me. scales won't. shed on their own i need. i know i need. the holy. spirit to sow. a seed. of inno-. cence and clothe. me. itâ€™s time to decide the side that iâ€™ll fight for because a house divided. against itself cannot stand. i think iâ€™ve made up my mind. this time i decide iâ€™ll fight for the side of his majesty. and iâ€™ll learn his ways. and then pass them along
