Oh you have a way. of makin' me so sad. all that's left is your shadow. and it's all i've ever had. of you. there is a girl with big bright eyes. and they sing they scream love me. i know this girl has told me so many times. i only smile to hurt you don't let me. 'cause she's a fountain damsel. her cries for help pour like honey rain. and her abundant beauty gushes. and i'm crushed in her gorgeous wave. i think this girl just might be cold as ice. but i gave her my heart already. i love this girl with all my might. and i'll wait for her 'cause i'm crazy.
'cause she's a fountain damsel. her cries for help pour like honey rain. and her abundant beauty gushes. and i'm crushed in her gorgeous wave. it's not her fault that she dazzles. me with heavenly aromas. her amber locks are so luscious. but pretty girls don't need no one

Spring torrents. break blossoms. the pink pedals spin flicker and float to the bottom. i liken. everything dainty. to her delicate luster and the yearning she induces lately. i'm painting. her portrait. so i won't forget i got to see the girl who runs with horses. she never. batted lashes. but i stoked the embers i had into a bonfire that is now only ashes. the wild. mare of my dreams she trotted right past me
