Sometimes. when i am deep asleep. a dream will come to me. and tell me things of truth. things i never knew. and one night i dreamt this. a black wolf came with a kiss. i was running through the forest. with a wicked grin. the fire in my eyes. was searching for sin. but every time. i was bent on ill will. the black wolf emerged. and he closed in for the kill. and i was. so scared of that beast. he ripped and tore at me. he loved the taste of flesh. he was so cold and heartless. but when my evil died. he quickly turned to hide. but when he was gone. something was wrong. for he was not. my enemy. where i was weak. the wolf was strong. he was fighting for. the good in me. and though it hurt. when he made me bleed. i had to change. sin was killing me. and when i finally found. this wolf of mine. he gave me this verse. and said now is the time. to be. joyful in hope. patient in affliction. faithful in prayer. to these words you must listen. the night moon is falling. and the bright sun is rising. soon darkness will be gone. it has poisoned my heart(far) too long. and when i awoke. from that mysterious dream. i still felt alone. but things were not quite as they seemed. â€˜cause now i know. that someone cares for me. heâ€™s gonna fight for me forever and for all eternity. i donâ€™t wanna see that forest. ever again. why would i walk with satan when jesus is my friend. iâ€™m not the only one who suffers. when i choose to turn away. iâ€™m hurting my future my family and my faith
