"Only Everything"

In the dark I see
the crooked outline of your mouth.
It quirks up at the edges
And my world turns inside out.
Then a vital question goes careening through my brain...
What do I want from you?
Only Everything.

Everything.

Everything you give me now
I'll never ask for more
With pleasures beyond measure
I stand at heaven's door.
Everything.
I want everything from you.
Everything.
Everything you do.
I want Everything from you.

Everything.
Everything from you.
Everything.

Of all the things you do
All I want is everything
What do you think I need from you?
Only Everything.

In a world so vast and cold
you know I welcome your light.
It's like a flame that warms my soul
and guides me through the night.

Your spirit came and colorized
all my gray blue dreams.
So what do I want from you?
Only everything.

Everything.

Everything you give me now
I'll never ask for more.
With pleasures beyond measure
I stand at heaven's door.

Everything.

I want everything from you.

Everything.
Everything you do.
I want everything from you.

Everything.

Everything from you.
Everything.

Of all the things you do
All I want is everything.
What do you think I need from you?
Only everything.

Everything.
