"The Bottom"

So I'm moving one one town one day
Lines are blurring slowly fade away
And I always feel a little forgotten
You give me something that you've never wanted

It's nice to know that I've been there before
But nothing's changed
I'm at the bottom again,
And I'm watching myself falling back in
You know all that you said wasn't true
Just blaming the world for what happens to you

So we're talking we're back here again
I'm just waiting, things come crashing in
And I always feel a little bit hopeless
I try my hardest and you never notice

At least you know I've been there before
I'm trying to change
I'm at the bottom again,
And I'm watching myself falling back in
Just blaming the world for what happens to you
