The smell of smoke it fills the air
The funny part is you don't care
You light the match wait for the screams
And watch the fire as it gleams

You turn your back and you walk away
There's nothing more for you to say

Smoke and ash blows in your face
There isn't any time to waste
Next victim in your sights
Lighting fires all through the night

But you've only just begun
Burn them all down one by one

Light Up The Night
Burn Down Your Life

You've burned your bridges to the ground
You're the only one left to blame
All falls to ash before your eyes
As your world goes up in flames
The ties you've cut will cut you down
Your own devices end your reign
All falls to ash before your eyes
As your world goes up in flames

When it blows up in your face
All will see you're a disgrace
You will pay for what you've done
All alone, what have you won?

You turn your back and you walk away
There's nothing more for you to say

Your rage fuels like gasoline
Ignited by your apathy
You brought this all unto yourself
No one will hear your cries for help

You, my friend, are the smoking gun

Target the mirror and take just one shot

Light Up The Night
Burn Down Your Life

You've burned your bridges to the ground
All falls to ash before your eyes
As your world goes up in flames
The ties you've cut will cut you down
Your own devices end your reign
All falls to ash before your eyes
As your world goes up in flames

Not a soul will remember your name (remember your name)
Once you've been devoured by flames (devoured by flames)
Look at how the tables have turned (tables have turned)
At your own hand, you have crashed and burned

Your bridges to the ground
All falls to ash before your eyes
As your world goes up in flames
The ties you've cut will cut you down
Your own devices end your reign
All falls to ash before your eyes
As your world goes up in flames
As your world goes up in flames
