Under open skies you whisper
It comes as no surprise to me, oh
Something echoes out this reminder
How beautiful you are to me

And it's blinding
When you find me

Every breath that I breathe
Is one that you take away
And hold me close to your heart
When mine is ready to break

And every song that I sing
Resounds with your symphony
And every moment that passes
It's a miracle captured and handed to me
With every breath that I breathe
With every breath that I breathe

The seasons come alive, your heartbeat
Rides along the ocean breeze, oh
Mountains cry out with your fingerprints
This creation for all to see

And it's blinding
When you find me

And every breath that I breathe
Is one that you take away
And hold me close to your heart
When mine is ready to break

And every song that I sing
Resounds with your symphony
And every moment that passes
It's a miracle captured and handed to me
With every breath that I breathe

The sand will fade
That you put beneath my feet
But you'll be, you always be, oh

Every breath that I breathe
And every breath that I breathe
Hold me close to your heart
When mine is ready to break

And every song that I sing
Resounds with your symphony, oh
And every moment that passes
It's a miracle captured and handed to me

With every breath that I breathe
With every breath that I breathe
And every breath that I breathe
And every breath that I breathe
