You're one of them, a monster at heart
Attention gives them what they need
To heal these wounds
Their lungs, filled with guilt
Hold up the walls they built
Their lungs, filled with guilt
Hold up the walls they built

Attention gives them what they need
To heal these wounds

You're just a symphony made up of violins
That don't make a sound
You lived a lie, you lived a lie
And came out with nothing more
Than the life (than the life) you had before

They're just machines that no one can trust
Always cheating the system that they need
Oh I trusted you because I trusted myself

You're just a symphony made up of violins
That don't make a sound
You lived a lie, you lived a lie
And came out with nothing more
Than the life (than the life) you had before

Now I'm left with nothing but a wasted past

There is a devil inside you
There is a devil inside you
You know him all too well

You're just a symphony made up of violins
That don't make a sound
You lived a lie, you lived a lie
And came out with nothing more
Than the life you had before

Take your lies to the grave you dug for yourself
Take your lies to the grave you dug for yourself
