Am I a bad guy? Am I a bad soul?
My eyes roll backward
My head fell forward
We want the vampires
They want the daylight
Undecided, if we will feel it

All the lies and fantasies, I picked to deny what is right
As the lawyers lie down to the sound of a broken man clinging
To the legs of a butterfly
We live to see our children die
Turn to the bright to describe what we never will find
I'm a monster singin' through the side of a left eye

And I will pay for
And I will pay for
I couldn't have her
I couldn't save her
If I could grab on
I'd pull the weight, love

All the lies and fantasies I picked to deny what is right
As the lawyers lie down to the sound of a broken man
clinging
To the legs of a butterfly, of a butterfly
We live to see our children die
Turn to the light to describe what we never will find
I'm a vampire clinging to the sounds for a fast high

All the lies and fantasies I picked to describe what is right
As the lawyers lie down to the sound of a broken man
clinging
To the legs of a butterfly
I live to see our children die
Turn to the bright to describe what we never will find
I'm a monster singin' through the side of a left eye
