Anytime, anyplace, come around, go away
There's a sound then it fades, turn it down make it stay
If I can get off the phone, I'd deliver the song but too much is in my way
Like a dog to the bone, a leash to the throne, a laugh within my face

Taking too much air, taking too much air
And this is how you care
When you realize you're down, when you realize you're

Down on the floor with a radio song
You're crawling, you're crawling
Down on the floor with a radio song, oh

We spent our days in a coma believing it's over Outside there's too much hate Tried to stay on the ball, believe it all but it bounces in our face
Now we're beginning to crawl by leaving it all, there's nothing in our way

Breathing out again, breathing out again
When it seems like you can, then you realize you're down
Then you realize you're

Down on the floor with a radio song
You're crawling, you're crawling
Down on the floor with a radio song, oh

When you realize you're down, when you realize you're
down
From taking too much air, taking oxygen
We all want love and we all fall

Down on the floor with a radio song
You're crawling, you're crawling
Down on the floor with a radio song, oh

Down on the floor with a radio song
You're crawling, you're crawling

Down on the floor with a radio song, oh
