"Red Colored Stars"

I'll open my eyes and a new day will come
I'll see red colored stars in the sky and in your eyes
Fast away the ugly, just one more bill to pay
All the past will be moon dust that flies from where we lay

Oh I can feel it, oh I can feel
Red colored stars in my hands
Of the stones that were cast
They left us with scars, reminders

There's a wall in my way, there's a war in my way
Tales of love that consumed me to hide from the fire
I'm a slave in my head, I'm awake in my bed
Tell the worms they can soon eat tonight, eat tonight

Oh I can feel
Red colored stars in my hands
Of the stones that were cast
They left us with scars, reminders
Oh can you feel it?
Oh can you feel it?

Sleep, there's a wall in my way, there's a war in my way
Sleep, there's a wall in my way, there's a war in my way Start our cars and be around, there's room enough for you and me
When the sun comes up, we'll leave them down and stare into the dream

Red colored stars in my hands
Of the stones that were cast
They left us with scars, reminders
Oh I can feel it
Oh I can feel it
Oh I can feel it
