

The Unsung Heroes "That's Reality"

Visit "That's Reality" on MotoLyrics.com

That's Reality by The Unsung Heroes
Words and Music by Andrew Fleming

To me this life is history, chemicals and energy.
They say that it's no good for me, I try and hide but can't break free.
Soon enough the war calms down, it looks like things are moving around.
To see it from another view, with all the cards laid out for you.

The Key to life keeps changing hands.
The seeds we sow, with different plans

To me my life's a mystery, all chemicals and energy.
They say that its reality, but it doesn't make no sense
to me.
No sooner am I coming down, it looks like I am turning around.
To see it from another view, but all the cards marked out for you

The Key to life keeps changing hands.
The seeds we sow, with different plans

Can't function when in love, can't function right without the drug.
But it's just a state of mind that leads you lost and left behind.
It's what makes you paranoid, and by the fear
you'll be destroyed.
Its living without a trace, no doubt as soon to be replaced.

Visit The Unsung Heroes page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.