

The Year In Review "Life At Home"

Visit "Life At Home" on MotoLyrics.com

Youâ€™ll be the death of me at the rate weâ€™re going.
Just running through the motions, never took the time to know me.
Weâ€™re almost at the end, but whyâ€™s it feel like we never started?
Well weâ€™ve departed.
And Iâ€™m not asking much,
Weâ€™re far too far away to figure out on our own
As weâ€™ve grown in and out of ourselves
These photos fade away on my shelf.

Enoughâ€™s enough.
Iâ€™m sick of all these tensions,
You never pay attention to what matters most.
Youâ€™ve lose your point of view,
You wonâ€™t view whatâ€™s in front of you.
But Iâ€™m used to what you do.

I canâ€™t keep my thoughts away from you anymore.
Because everything you ask for never pays off for me
Based on what Iâ€™ve seen and who youâ€™ve come to be.
Youâ€™ve made me worry one too many nights,
On what I felt was right.
Second guessing every word I write.

How could you let it get to this point?
I never thought itâ€™d get to this point.
Never thought Iâ€™d grow in and out of myself.
Youâ€™ve grown in and out of yourself.

Iâ€™m running on empty.

Visit The Year In Review page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.