I'm rollin' your way, road trip travelator
Step on for a while and discover your complaints, yeah
You're pushin' me you're pushin' me, I push a printer laser

Another John Doe and a another face to blame, yeah

How many falling stars does it take to wake a nation?
And trample through your head and lay your mind out on the pavement
Confusing and consuming, all in all it complicates me

Another John Doe, and a another face to blame yeah

(No... don't don't stop...)

You're wound so tight, so tight it starts to crack
And as long as you got yours, you don't care what's left behind
It all becomes the same through the shake to try and fake it

Another John Doe and we all become the same, yeah
Another John Doe and a another face to blame, yeah
Another John Doe and a another face to blame, yeah
