V1:

I've had enough and I'm ready for change,
Sick of queueing for a bus, no one knowing my name,
Tired of every single day always bein' the same,
And every night outta sight still feeling the same,
Tired of every single rapper chattin' guns and cocaine, Fuck the radio and every single song that they're playing,
Had a girl but she left so I don't know what's next,
I'm watching YouTube and now I think I'm getting depressed,
Cause the only thing left, as sad as it sounds,
Is the online community that holds me down,
Helps me through when everything has come undone,
Drips the glue and shows me what I have become,
Self loathing, alone and unable to see,
The future approaching, unfolding for me,
I'm ready but I need you to show me the way,
So pick me up now come and take me away

Chorus:

Take me away from here, take me away,
Take me away, away, away from here.

V2:

This last weeks been the hardest of my life,
I feel like giving it up and dropping the mic,
Fuck tightening the flow I'll just say it as it comes out,
Give my every word unto the world until it runs out,
The gift that is, in droughts it floods out,
The mouth to whisper the words my lungs shout,
The breathing, releasing my demons, strung out,
The pencil receiving the rage, it blunts out,
I often wonder if I'll even make it through the day,
I put my headphones on and try to move away,
From bad thoughts but the stress is hard to take,
A soul can stretch before it starts to break,
But bend too much and it loses shape,
Feels torn and disfigured and in need of escape,
When sad memories are all that stays,
Let music come and take you away

Bridge:

I'll be everything you want,

I'll be everything you need,

I'll be everything, everything, everything for you.
