I know you could've had any man you wanted
But you chose me, when you had a better choice or two
I promised you a better life
But a simple one suits you just fine
Of all the dreams I've had, you're the one that came
true

I close my eyes in paradise, each night when I lay down
And wake up with an angel, in a faded cotton gown
I took my turn to conquer the world
Turns out my world was you
Of all the dreams I've had, you're the one that came
true

Girl you know I've always been a dreamer
I've hit bottom, climbin' a mountain or two But you've always left the love-light on When my broken pride came crawlin' home
Of all the dreams I've had, you're the one that came
true

I close my eyes in paradise, each night when I lay down
And wake up with an angel, in a faded cotton gown
I took my turn to conquer the world
Turns out my world was you
Of all the dreams I've had, you're the one that came
true
And honey
Of all the dreams I've had, you're the one that came
true
