

Timber Timbre

"God Made An Angel"

Visit "God Made An Angel" on MotoLyrics.com

God made an angel, He liked what he saw
He made another, but with a tiny flaw
That went unnoticed, so He made some more
Each one less perfect than the one before
Malice in Wonderland
Days of guns and roses
Welcome to the city of
The nightclub that never closes
Daddy's little girl, she likes to dance
She always was a rebel
Daddy says she looks like hell
She might as well be dancin' with the devil
God made an angel, He liked what he saw
He made another, but with a tiny flaw
That went unnoticed, so He made some more
Each one less perfect than the one before
Gidget goes to Babylon
Blows all her money on a shopping spree
She likes old things, new things
Whatever she can get dirt cheap
She's quite the wheeler-dealer
She's got the bug and she can't control it
She bought the Holy Grail at a garage sale
She practically stole it
God made an angel
Now daddy's little girl don't say a word
She just sits there on the sofa
Lately she's been hangin' out
With that cross-dressin' counter-culture
Guru cassanova
God made an angel, He liked what he saw
He made another, but with a tiny flaw
That went unnoticed, so He made some more
Each one less perfect than the one before

Visit Timber Timbre page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.