"The Eternal Fight"

In the beginning of time, at the dawn of mankind
An angel fell to the earth
To kill and to rape, all things that God made Taking it for all it's worth

And the Saints they hold their breath
As he prepares to strike

Eternal fight between darkness and light
Like a plague over the land
Rivers run red from the blood of the dead
will It ever end?

He spun his web of deceit, to let them all bleed
To drink from his goblet of lies
Heaven's decline he'll await, he laughs when you hate
A putrid lord of the flies

And as they face the force of light
The demons scream out loud

Eternal fight between darkness and light
Like a plague over the land
Rivers run red from the blood of the dead
will It ever end?

And as they face the force of light
The demons scream out loud

Eternal fight between darkness and light
Like a plague over the land
Rivers run red from the blood of the dead
will It ever end?

Rivers run red from the blood of the dead
will It ever end?
