"If I Know You"

She counts the hours
As she recounts her tears
This day in life feels like a thousand years
But in the changing light of time it only forms
In her mind, She smiles and sings the song that pulls her through

If I know you
You will turn this day
Into a perfect surprise
If I know you
Like I think I do
The worst of times will work out right
(Repeat)

So many hours spent
Fearing the hours ahead
I would do better to remember you
For in the changing light of day you always seem To pave the way in softer hues and brush away my blues

If I know you
You will turn this day
Into a perfect surprise
If I know you
Like I think I do
The worst of times will work out right
(Repeat 3x)
