"The Christmas Syndrome"

Stuck inside this routine
They've tried to convince me that I failed
I really felt like freeing myself
Inside me I knew

Suddenly it was Christmas
But not a snowy day
They broke into my life so well

Everyone looked happy
There was not a mere cry
Inciting me to free myself
They didn't knew

Suddenly it was Christmas
And it was a snowy day
They broke into my life so well

I will never follow the lights
I will only follow the snow
Because the snow turns out to be the bright one
Because the snow turns out to be the right one

It broke into my life so well
It broke into my life so well
It broke into my life so well...
