Gone, I need to break away
Gotta try and go break away
Escape

I know that it's all my fault because it's always me

How long will it stay this way with you and I divided?
The pain of all this misery is slowly killing me

You just bring me back down

I've gone away to take back my life
It's better that I'm left alone in disguise
And it's all I take with nothing in return
It's better that I'm left alone to my demise

Wronged, betrayed, and thrown away
My fate has been decided
I'm dead

I am finished trying so don't waste your breath on me

It will stay this way with you and I divided
I hope that all this misery reminds you of that day

The day you killed our trust

We're all in denial
We live in fiction
We pretend we love ourselves and smile again
