I watched you dance i watched your hair hang low and separate your eyes i watched you raise i watched your face light up and (you were) staring up at the sky looking through me looking through to everything i couldn't be watching you change didn't you notice you were spinning in my head and didn't you notice i was watching both of your eyes as you were spinning all alone away (from us) i watched you dance i watched you change your mind and twirl around our space i watched you move on as i moved and I watched as we grew apart watching "we" become "you and i" as i took everything to heart didn't you want it all to change from what was then to the new things didn't you notice i'm alive
