I have never felt so alone with so many people around me I gave up all the Efforts to pretend that I am full
I have never imagined that I would end so fucked up that I would feel so Close the breath of loneliness.

Now I try to change it all take decisions on my own leave the past and Fight for all I dreamed about, I longed to make come true

Stop sacrificing your ambitions and fight
For all you wanted, forget the fearful past
This time you will rise a king to your world
To stop pretending, to find the peace of your heart.

She had lied to me with fairytales
For the future Just a normal life,
Every day same things, same words, a frozen life children, house, rot in
The same place every day

Stop sacrificing your ambitions and fight
For all you wanted, forget the fearful past
This time you will rise a king to your world
To stop pretending, to find the peace of your heart.

Now I try to change it all,
Take decisions on my own
Leave the past and fight for all I dreamed about,
I longed to make come true
