You're looking for any answer
But only questions come to your head
I know how you feel
You should just walk away

You don't need all these things you've lost anymore
Don't ever look back to the past
I saw the signs, I saw the memories burn
Without a sound, like a candle flame

For anyone, everyday is the last chance
Don't let the past steal your present
You know all your friends are close to you
They'll never leave you alone

You're looking for any answer
But only questions come to your head
I know how you feel
You should just walk away

Don't let the past steal your present
Because the past is just a moment buried in time

I know you can still feel it burning inside of your chest
And it will burn until you turn that key and just walk away

For anyone, everyday is the last chance
Don't let the past steal your present
And you know all your friends are close to you
They'll never leave you alone
You should just walk away
Just walk away
You should just walk away
Just walk away

Don't ever look back, ever look back
We'll always be with you
So stay close to all your friends

For anyone, everyday is the last chance
Don't let the past steal your present

Don't ever look back, ever look back

For anyone, everyday is the last chance
Don't let the past steal your present
Don't ever look back, ever look back

Don't let the past steal your life
