"Six Billion Voices"

I never stole a kiss from someone
And I've never seen the greenlandic sun
And I never took a walk on that wall
Can I have it all

And I never had a lunch in Phnom Penh
So can you breathe again?

If six billion voices would call out your name
Could you come Down from heaven
There's six billion choices and so many roads
When you're there
Up in heaven
I've six billion things to say
To you

I never took a dive with no sharks
Seen a fire-fly that glows in the dark
I couldn't tell you what it feels like at all
But I'd break your fall

And I never kissed a girl in Phnom Penh
So can you breathe again

If six billion voices would call out your name
Could you come Down from heaven
There's six billion choices and so many roads
When you're there
Up in heaven
I've six billion things to say
To you
