Were we just broken-hearted
When we spent, the night under the stars?
Seemingly, your eyes focus on me
And I wish that I could be between all these lines

The print is way to fine to read
Could we please retrace a lost design
So I could fall into your arms just for awhile?

As I find myself back where we started
Dreaming alone, tearing down these walls
That time has built between us
Coming home has never been the hardest thing

Were our stars dim when we set sight?
Or were we too lost in each others eyes to even care at all?
I promise I'll try my best to sacrifice all my time
If I could fall into you for tonight, if I could fall into you for tonight
Just for tonight

As I find myself back where we started
Dreaming alone, tearing down these walls
That time has built between us
Coming home has never been the hardest thing

Between all these lines
The print is way to fine to read
Could we please retrace a lost design
So I could fall into your arms just for awhile?

All my time
If I could fall into you for tonight, I'll sacrifice all my time
If I could fall into you for tonight, I'll sacrifice all my
time
If I could fall into you for tonight, I'll sacrifice all my
time
