

Over It "Worry Bomb"

So, here we are now, back where
We said we'd laugh away our worry
Somehow it's managed to find you
Can't even begin to break this down
Till you turn it around

Just can't run away from everything
I'm hearing sirens in your future
When you never come around
When one phone call won't change anything

Don't you look to me
Panic can't stop this worry bomb
Disarm your self-destruction

Somehow it's managed to find you
Still can't even begin to break this down
Before you pay to disobey the sound
Each nervous tick means everything
To the dynamite strapped to your neck

Get out, it's a snare you've set yourself
What we built you forget when you fly fear
In the face of fate, just try to take them down
Find out what a helpless game you play

Stay one more turn but today
Forget the doubts you host, make the most
Of what can't ever be escaped
Disengage your hate
