What's the sense of running blind
If you never know where you go
What's the sense of a suicide
If the crash is all you know

I'm a right down, lower than the low
Collecting other people's sins
What's the sense if you got to go
If you don't know where you been

A classic indication, march out of time
A standard application, you're not the kind
I'm coming

Blessed retribution, head on, never stall
Running head on to the wall
Unholy damn solution, head on, never fall
Running head on to the wall

All the promises that you made
Made you right with what you did
All the freedoms that you trade
On the block for the highest bid

I'm an up here higher than high sight
On a self-inflicted grin
With a back door larger than life light
So you can see where you been

A classic indication, march out of time
A standard application, you're not the kind
I'm coming

Blessed retribution, head on, never stall
Running head on to the wall
Unholy damn solution, head on, never fall
Running head on to the wall

C'mon now baby shine a light on me
Can you see me just a little bit?
Cleanse you of the sorrow and your misery
Wash away the pain with a hit

Tell me what you're waiting for?

C'mon little lazy take a walk with me
Will you reach out, will you take my hand?
C'mon little lazy will you let it be
Or will you walk to the promised land?

Tell me what you're waiting for?

C'mon now baby shine the light on me
Can you use me just a little bit?
C'mon little lazy will you walk with me?
We'll wash away the pain and the shit

Blessed retribution, head on, never stall
Running head on to the wall
Unholy damn solution, head on, never fall
Running head on to the wall
