I have been drifting through endless nothingness.
Waiting for the end. Looking for an exit,
When I thought, I'm losing it.
How far is forever? How empty is nothingness?
I have seen the end of the world with my own two eyes.
I have walked through dead space,
And come back alive.
I never expected this chapter to end like this.
But, it's out of our hands and only time will tell.
So now we wait in silence.
Time will tell.
From the very start, I lost myself here.
And everything's just tearing me apart.
I'm looking forward to ending all this drifting,
Cause way deep down inside
I know I lost myself to the silence.
Where we end up is anyones guess,
Yet I hope we'll have a chance to start over
Before we're gone for good.
I'll do what I can to stay awake,
While I'm here. Before I disappear.
Where am I going? I need to find myself before I drift away.
I have lost myself in the world I betrayed.
