They have placed me in your care
Where no one can find me there
Wrapped in your cocoon
No light from the moon
And truth will never bloom

Most have waited for this day
Cause now I cant see mistakes
With no tears to cry
I cant take this goodbye
Theres time to fly away

And now well just have to let go
But always on this lonely road
And I might have to bleed and bury your seed
To find whats left of me

And theres one thing to confess
Before I can lay this to rest
If were more than just friends
I will hurt you again
Im tired of my mess

And now well just have to let go
But always on this lonely road
And I might have to bleed and bury your seed
To find whats left of me

And now well just have to let go
But always on this lonely road
And I might have to bleed and bury your seed
