Shaking at the knees, you promised me love until we die.
Together we breathe until death parts you from me.
Forever was the promise that we said we would keep.
This world is gray.
Are these just words that we say,
Or is there a deeper meaning?
We the kings and queens promised a life to never fall apart, proclaimed our words.
For the world to hear and the eyes to see.
This ship sails into the unknown.
I know you're out there screaming for me.
Oh bone of my bone find me in the dark.
Do our hearts feel a different cause?
Can we survive this tide?
You promised.
We promised.

In this moment I can not breathe.
We've let this define our lives.
We can conquer.
We will rise.
Oh bone of my bone find me in the dark
Love will rise over the shadows we create.
You gave your heart till death do us part.
We've lost our direction but love can show us the way back home.
We can see face to face.
We can see heart to heart.
Love bears all things.
Love can mend what feel apart.
Have we deprived ourselves of love.
Oh bone of my bone, find me in the dark.
Love will rise over the shadows we create.
You gave your heart till death do us part.
