I can't sleep.
Tonight I feel so hollow.
I've been at what I do best again.
And I'm so far from home.
Don't know what I've been looking for.
The streets are cold and they've got no soul.
The city's upside down.
I'm losing my way.
Am I the person I once knew myself to be?
I've traded my faith for a taste of destruction.
I can't seem to get away from this.
I am the traitor.
You will discover.
The trees have lost their color.
Is my head right?
Am I the traitor?
I'm afraid to see what's become of me.
Just let the water rise and cleanse the city into the sea.
The city's upside down.
I'm losing my way.
Am I the person I once knew myself to be?
I've traded my faith for a taste of destruction.
I can't seem to get away from this.
We will wash away.
We will discover.
