This was never the world I fought for
We can't be saved every time
And I will not return
We'll write secrets for you

Oh I will not run from the antagonist
The world goes blind
We'll ask these questions one more time
We can't afford to lose this time

And when you're contemplating sadness,
Stories come untold
Yeah, we are all but ghosts of the world

And when you are at the end, everything
Everything won't go as planned
I have built your demise
A poster boy for pain

We are the kings of the world
Destroy the sun
You'll never see the light of day
When we block out the sun
You'll never see the light of day
When we tear down everyone

And when you're contemplating sadness,
Stories come untold
Yeah, we are all but ghosts of the world
I've seen the world, I've met my maker
I've seen the world, I've met my maker

This world is dead
How can you see the words I scream when we cut?
Oh I will not see the day till I overcome the world
