"Shreds"

You told me many a thing
Not a word you were planning to keep
You said son have faith in yourself
While I go in and take her myself

You told me you wouldn't jump in
But like a lion you tore me to shreds
Though I know it's only a test
Of faith

I looked up to you in so many ways
I trusted you not to lead me astray
But your promises broke, like my heart and my hopes
As I watched you walk her out of that door

The only one I'd ever cared for
And I watched you walk her out of that door

If this is truly a test
Then pray my mind put this matter to rest
I will grow from this darkness again
And I will stand up and love you again
