I always thought the problem was not enough heart
I never knew the challenge was just to try and stick together
The pages so far aren't a real strong start
I promised myself chapter two would be a little better

This time around I'll try a little harder
I won't get caught up in everything
This time around I'll give a little more of myself
This time around

The heart can take a break or two it won't do any harm Feeling pain like this is just a way to prove that you're alive
I can't wait to see if the third time's a charm
I don't think that I can go another round and still survive

This time around I'll try a little harder
I won't get caught up in everything
This time around I'll give a little more of myself
This time around

This time around I'll try a little harder
I won't get caught up in everything
This time around I'll give a little more of myself

This time around I'll try a little harder
I won't get caught up in everything
This time around I'll give a little more of myself
This time around
