what a lie to be insane in a crowd that you have seen scared

i'm drowning into reality of imagining where i am, trapped inside my worst nightmares this might never end (never ends) might never end

you see that world couldn't take us no matter how we went beyond suffering waiting to keep all you can save would tear our feelings apart it's not too late to figure out you've gotta find what wakes you up what wakes you up but first you must understand you need to understand what mesmerized you i've been dreaming and cheating for you don't let me down

it's all broken, all torn apart help me take my shot tonight we choose to stay and bet whatever we might lose this time it won't be the same we got it through, now it's time to forget and embrace what we are if we're strong enough to fight for not to die you'll be sorry if you've waited so long deep down i want this world to come to the end but i can never lose myself show me the light show me the way don't ever lose yourself

don't let me down
this time it won't be the same

all will be failed they will go down on their knees they all have to see there's so much to live
there's so much to live
