There's been a hundred if there's been one, whoa, oh
And they have all been nice for a while, uh huh, yea
But then one day, I call on you
And I got to let ya know
That there's a feeling inside that I cant explain
But id like to let it go

'Cause I've never had a love like this
No I never had a love like this
And I cant explain the way
It feels but it feels right, yea

Infatuation usually wears off soon, whoa,
And then you split and go on your way, yea
But this has been going on for too long
To be just another fling
And I could wait between two nighters
To say that I don't care
But that doesn't really mean a thing

'Cause I've never had a love like this
No I never had a love like this
And I cant explain the way
It feels but it feels right, yea

No I never had a love like this
No I never had a love like this
And I cant explain the way
It feels but it feels right yea

I tried to make a love work out, yea,
Well, I guess it wasn't supposed to happen then
Or I didn't find out how
Or the feelings weren't just broken in
Well, I know were working now

'Cause I've never had a love like this
No I never had a love like this
And I cant explain the way
It feels but it feels right, yea

No I never had a love like this

No I never had a love like this
And I cant explain the way
It feels but it feels right, yea
