last night (last night)
talking in your sleep (talking in your sleep) you said things (you said things) you never said to me (never said to me) about all the things you've done wrong (about all the things you've done wrong) and how you don't feel like you belong (you don't know where you belong) baby (baby) what's got you feeling so gone (got you feeling so gone) and then you toss and turn you break a sweat (you toss and turn you break a sweat) boy something's got you so upset (upset) it's like you're holding on to some big regret you wake up (wake up) you light a cigarette (light a cigarette)

I can see (I see) A sad silhouette (a sad silhouette) and then you sit down at the edge of the bed (sit down at the edge of the bed) elbows on knees, hands on your head (elbows on knees hands on your head)

so many things being left unsaid (being left unsaid)

and then you pace back and forth don't know I'm awake (pace back and forth don't know I'm awake)
mumbling about some big mistake (big mistake)
I can feel My heart start to break

And you had me silence my voice
You pushed me away, expect me to stay I gotta go searching for a brand new day
And you had me silence my voice
You pushed me away, expect me to stay I gotta go
searching for a brand new day

(Ghost)

I confess about the mistress I've been seeing

I confess about my late night creeping

I confess about what I been eating, chillin', restin', overnight sleepin'

I confess I did you dirty too, I confess because you have no clue

I can't picture what I put you through but come on baby boop yourself in my shoes I had nothing, none of ya'll want me

Memories of what we had will all haunt me

You wanna make it work girl but not me

The weight of this stress lord get it up off me

We was on the same page now it's different

She was there you weren't to listen

I know the story don't get shit twisted

Too bad what we had will forever be missin'

And you had me silence my voice

searching for a brand new day

And you had me silence my voice

searching for a brand new day

Last night, talking in your sleep

you said things, you never said to me
