Living on the sand for a while Taking everything that we could I could be somebody you want Take a chance

Emptiness is part of the wind heat rises up from the ground we can be whatever we want if we want

Under the red sea sky I thought about everything we've done.
Follow the dark of night you'll find the way to get back to the sun
Under the Sinai moon you say the names of people that youâ€™ve loved
Follow the dark of night you'll find the way to get back
what you've lost

Color in a colorless land Mountains are fading away Faces come out of the stone
Of the stone

Staring at the sea, itâ€™s alive Drinking tea in the afternoon sun
We can be wherever we want Sometimes

Under the red sea sky I thought about everything we've done.
Follow the dark of night you'll find the way to get back
to the sun
Under the Sinai moon you say the names of people that you've loved
Follow the dark of night you'll find the way to get back
what you've lost
