we can't always be together you gotta pick it up, you gotta pick it up again things can't always hang together cos nobody knows, so let's give it a go

home
you'll be running all the way
back home
but nothing's gonna save
your soul
back home

we can't always make things better when it comes around you gotta nail it down
this ain't gonna be forever cos nobody knows
so let's give it a go

home
back home
but nothing's gonna save
your soul
back home
home

if there was some way to manage this space between us (some way to manage this space between us) (i find it hard to reach) home
back home
your soul
till you've finally found your peace on your own
because life is short

and getting shorter
and we don't do things that we oughta life is short and getting shorter
you in.....
and so.....
