We're bound and gagged
We can hardly even stand it
To watch you live your life as you demand it
The secrecy, is driven with a passion
That rules your every lie and your reaction
Do you want to live your life in confusion
Do you want to live your life in confusion
The welfare life connects your soul to your religion
Keeps you locked inside your indecision
The children cry as you struggle with emotion
They learn to sacrifice love and devotion
Do you want to live your life in confusion
Do you want to live your life in confusion
A voice keeps tellin' you go higher higher
Your body craves with it's desire it's desire
A world inside a world where the light is growing dimmer
And losers can feel that they can now be winners
The bridges burn and the cries for help have faded
To think your Jesus Christ is overrated
Do you want to live your life in confusion
Do you want to live your life in confusion
Or do you want to live in our world
