Hard rain  s been falling for far too long
Here comes sunshine, here comes summertime
I kept on thinking   bout what went wrong
Here comes sunshine, here comes summertime

I thought it was all a conspiracy
The sky was never blue
I lost the sunshine inside of me
And blamed it all on you
The turning of the screw

Rain clouds were gathering above my home
Here comes sunshine, here comes summertime
Seems like they follow wherever I go
Here comes sunshine, here comes summertime

I thought they all had it in for me
My skies were never blue
I lost the sunshine inside of me
Blamed it all on you
The turning of the screw

The clouds are lifting
Clearing my view
The rain is slowing
Now I find you

I thought it was all a conspiracy
The skies were never blue
I lost the sunshine inside of me
And blamed it all on you
The turning of the screw

Oh what a thing to do
I used to blame the weather on you
It was such a stupid thing to do
Well I used to blame the weather on you
What a thing to do
