Paths of Negativity
(Lyrics by Mike Nicholas)

Open mind for a new days teaching
Wounded soul for the rebel in me
Walking down the paths of negativity
Hard to stop when its ruins are unseen

I see it paints the picture so very well
I think I'm free but my actions put me into a cell
Lead me out of this place that claims me
Just don't unlock the door till I see myself clearly

These paths of negativity inspire another melody
To captivate my sanity which has been known to go astray
These paths of negativity bring out my creativity
To captivate my sanity which has been known to go
astray

All in all I'm just a lost soul drifting
Off my path into the unknown
Any sense and I would turn around and start again
But my "wants" take me further than I want to go

I know that selflessness is hard to possess
And letting go is a tough thing to digest
Save me from myself and all that rots within me
Take my hardened heart and rejuvenate the feeling

These paths of negativity inspire another melody
To captivate my sanity which has been known to go
astray
These paths of negativity bring out my creativity
To captivate my sanity which has been known to go
astray

Oh its time to self reflect Piece together and dissect
The choices I make and the people they effect

These paths of negativity inspire another melody

To captivate me sanity which has been known to go
astray
Its moments like these that show us who we are
In this I find a need to reconnect what falls apart
To reconnect what falls apart
