

Pagan Lorn

"Gone... And Forgotten"

Visit "Gone... And Forgotten" on MotoLyrics.com

when time meets the end names and deeds are forgotten when time has buried all your memories a soul loses its value when living becomes surviving when the forthcoming belongs to the past you will kneel down and pray to the horizon to get a nightmare instead of reality someone has given
and will take away
in a time of weakness
strength and discipline measure your life span separating guilt from innocence
beyond help you face the truth
a triumphant procession into execution combine your smile with honour
remember a day
different from the others
it is the day we will fade away brilliantly then out of a sudden through the lines of confusion he breaks unharmed
unequal to everything
ever known
ever imagined
no one knows where he came from or where he will go
this obscure
fearless
and blameless being and for a last time
the old guard rises
to investigate
under the hero's command the dark stranger will rip up your eyes and blind you with your blindness things are long done your duty is to pay
for our faults
to die

but who cares
in the last hour
knowledge followed by decay is senseless anyway in a rain of purification a new belief is injected existence is an arena
our death the sensation acceptable perfection finally is reached ride the passage with the brave there will be no addition while perishing
would you carry his honour could you speak his name will you accomplish the last order filled with calculation and glory
without regard
marching into a new area while a black phoenix will overcome any dream
and blathering
is imprisoned
in a mental cage
any weakness
any emotion
is sterilised
because acceptable perfection has been reached the time has come to end this the time has come to be gone and forgotten to save lustless feelings of yours
someone has given
and will take away
in a time of weakness
strength and discipline measure your life-span
separating guilt from innocence
beyond help you face the truth
a triumphant procession into execution
combine your smile with honour
remember a day
different from the others
it is the day we will fade away brilliantly
he has disbanded another part of infinity he will go on with the flow of another time and while his spurs resound and fill a dead world
one will know
he taught to die with a smile signifying nothing !

Visit Pagan Lorn page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

