

Jamie Christopherson

"The War Still Rages Within"

Visit "The War Still Rages Within" on MotoLyrics.com

Looking down on the cars on the highway
Stream of taillights
Everybody invented together, to so willingly sacrifice rights
When people accept that cogs in the system, give our freewill conform.
Individual pieces
A vast world together
Become a force storm
Looking down on the virulent city
The skyscrapers rise
Even men with the greatest intentions start believing their own lies
Rip them them off from their future
But eventually someones got to pay
The only way out of the cycle, is to strike out and pave your own way!
Yeah...
Yeah...
(instrumentals)
Yeah...
Yeah...
Yeah...
We all fight our own fight
Will you fuel the desire to win?
Always struggling with the truth
Of the life that might have been but no matter how jagged your path is, you always come back to the road
When the dust of battle settles
The war still rages within!

Visit Jamie Christopherson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.