Tell me a story of then, won't you let go and let me in?
Won't you hold me once before I go again?
I just left home, I've been away, been out on my own
Never been but I find that now I'm all alone
These words I've said fill me up just to fill my head
Now I finally find that it's only you instead

Don't leave me here waiting on you, I've done everything that you've asked me to do (x2)

Now I'm coming near and pushing back and things are clear
And all your lonely words are all I hear
I've gone away, and moving on to better things
Coming back is something, I could never say

What do you do when you're away? And you know that your love is gone to stay.(x2)

Tell me a story of then, won't you let go and let me in?
